Man as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, sours the temper, ruins the beauty, saps the strength, and causes the vigor and cheerfulness so essential when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the kidneys are not kept in good order, the child will be afflicted with kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of the important organs. This unpleasant condition of the kidneys and bladder not only affects the most people, but as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble. It is the immediate effect of kidney trouble. It is sold in fifty-cent bottles. You may get a sample bottle free, also a full telling all about it. Write to the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers of kidney trouble. Write to Dr. Kilmer, 100 South Broadway, New York, N. Y., be sure and get this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Scotland Neck, N. C., on every bottle.

The Hookworm Disease.

Hookworm disease was discovered in the United States by Dr. Stiles, in 1902. Since that time much valuable information has accumulated regarding the prevalence, mode of infection, and distribution of this disease.

As regards the prevalence: Last fall 600 students attending four of North Carolina's best colleges, were examined for hookworm disease, with the result that 33 1/2 per cent were found to be infected with this disease. These students represented the majority of the counties of the state.

Only this month quite a number of soldiers in camp at Chicamauga were examined and 25 per cent were found to be infected with this disease.

Statistics show that in some counties this disease is present to the extent of 50 per cent.

In Halifax over 100 cases have been treated with favorable results.

MODE OF INFECTION AND HOW HARM IS PRODUCED.

The hookworm lives in our small bowels where it grasps, holds and sucks blood for its living, at the same time it injects a poison into our system which gives rise to the following symptoms: Paleness, brownness, or unable to sleep, joint pains, severe headaches, either poor or abnormal appetite, palpitation of the heart is common, marked lack of development in children, mentally the individual is dull, tires easily, etc.

The worm lays eggs which are expelled with the excreta giving rise to soil pollution.

An individual going barefooted or wearing leaky shoes, comes in contact with the eggs, which have hatched becoming embryos, becomes infected as these embryos enter the skin and give rise to a condition known as "dew-poison" "cow-itch" or "ground-itch." These embryos make their way to our small bowels and develop into adult worms.

If you or any member of your family present some of the above symptoms consult your family physician in reference to the same.

Dr. C. F. Strickland, representing the State Board of Health, lectured to the teachers, attending the Teachers' Institute at Enfield, last week, on the subject of flies, mosquitos, and Hookworm Disease.

What Constitutes The Subscriber?

A court decision has lately been rendered in Massachusetts on what constitutes a subscriber. The judge firmly believed that the man who received the paper, although he never subscribed for it, is entitled to pay. James Thompson moved, and William Robinson took immediate possession and received and accepted a weekly newspaper that was delivered to him through the mails every week. The good natured editor sent accounts frequently, but no attention was paid them by Mr. Robinson.

Finally there was a day of reckoning. Robinson had received the paper for some time, he informed the collector, but he said that he never subscribed and declined to pay for it. The judge personally questioned the defendant, who said that he had read and made use of it and was receiving the accounts, which were frequently included in the paper.

Judgement was rendered in favor of the newspaper. The judge was severe in his criticism of the people who are receiving papers and do not think it worth while to pay for what they receive and make use of. It is an act of dishonesty, he said. One should acquaint the publisher and pay for whatever numbers he receives.—Wyandot (O.) Union-Republic.

Dusky Customer—Mah husband's done got de rheumatism. Gimme a bottle o' datyer man-an'-beast contrapshun.
Druggist—Hum—well—er—that stuff's a little bit strong for a man, I'm afraid.

Wills-Harrison.

Brinkleyville, July 23.—The Methodist Protestant church at this place was the scene of one of the most beautiful marriage ceremonies ever witnessed in this sacred edifice, when Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Harrison gave in marriage their daughter, Katherine Maud, to Mr. Glen Edward Wills, of Emporia, Va. The church was beautifully decorated.

Musical selections were rendered by Mrs. W. Z. Morton, of Robersonville, who presided at the organ, and Miss Temple Owen, vocal soloist, who very sweetly sang "I Love You True" just prior to the entrance of the bridal party.

At 10:30 the organ pealed forth the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, and the bridal party entered as follows: First, the ushers, Mr. J. H. Partin, of Rocky Mount, and Mr. Milton Norman, of Halifax; then Dr. D. Smith, of Manson, with Miss Agnes Reese Harris, of Henderson; Mr. T. N. Harrison, of Littleton, with Miss Annie B. Boyd; Mr. Moore, of Emporia, Va., with Miss Louise Allen, of Richmond, Va.; then came the flower girls, little Misses Helen Harrison and Burwell Patterson, of Littleton; then came the maid of honor, Miss Panthea Harrison, sister of the bride; then the ring bearer, little Agnes Thorne, of Airle.

The groom entered with his best man, Mr. Laurence Whitaker, of Enfield, and joined his bride at the altar, who came in leaning on the arm of her brother. Mr. John H. Harrison, Jr. Together they stood before the altar while Rev. W. S. Taylor, with W. L. Harris assisting, using the ring ceremony, pronounced the solemn words that made them man and wife.

The bride was gowned in a handsome sage-green traveling suit, with hat and gloves to match, and wore a sunburst of pearls and diamonds, presented to her by the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and maiden-hair ferns.

The maid of honor was handsomely gowned in soft white silk, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

The bridesmaid were dressed in handsome gowns of white lingerie over white silk, and carried pink carnations.

Immediately after the ceremony and to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the bridal party left the church and took carriages for Littleton, where they boarded the westbound train for Asheville and other places of interest in the mountains of North Carolina.

The bride is the talented and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Harrison, of Brinkleyville, N. C., and the groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wills, and is now a prominent business man of Emporia, Va.

The bridal couple received a large number of very handsome and costly presents.

The out of town guests were: Miss Agnes R. Harris, of Henderson, Miss T. A. Owens, of Littleton, Miss Louise Allen, of Richmond, Va.; Mr. Moore, of Emporia, Va.; Dr. D. Smith, of Manson; T. N. Harrison, of Littleton; J. H. Partin, of Rocky Mount; Rev. W. S. Taylor, of Littleton; Miss Boyd Thorne of Airle.

Just Moving With the Times.

Of course you have noticed, in recent years, that the young women seen on the streets, walk faster than they used to. In the old days it seemed to be undignified for a woman to be seen moving at a fast gait, but it is all changed and now most of them simply "go down the road," to the envy of a good many men who would be put to it to keep up with them. It is seldom you see a woman walking slowly along the street. If you do see one—a young woman—she is always accompanied by a man—a young man—and if she is walking slowly along there is "something doing;" they are observing sure pop. Make a few observations and you will see that we are right.—Greensboro Dailey Record.

The Flying Machine Industry.

The next thing we may look for is the flying machine factory. Already shops are turning out biplanes and monoplanes as if they were so many wheelbarrows, and in a short time the country will be full of biplane and monoplane agencies as it is automobile agencies. And incidentally, the newspapers will be establishing a new department devoted to the fellows who hit the earth with a dull thud.—Charlotte Chronicle.

What He Wanted.

A Texas Congressman thinks the following letter from one of his constituents represents the limit of imposition upon the hard-working patriots at Washington:

"Dear sir will you please sell me some envelopes with my name on so I wont have to put any stamps on them I would like to have envelopes without putting names on I will pay just the same if as the stamped ones are or like the ones I have to put the stamps on them I would be glad to have them free or I will pay for them if you want it I want envelopes just like the postmasters have and do not need to put any stamps on I can pay for them I want white paper envelopes with my name on the left side just like you part your hair I want about a doz or 2 doz also please tell me how to cure Hogs and Pigs of the Mange mine has them something cruel and I have put something on them but could not help them also please tell me how to train pointers I will have some soon and want to have them well trained to quail I would like to have some fish which I can keep them in small water all the time without drying such as barrels tanks ect and what to eat and how to make them grow fast I will close very truly J. A Clever Dog.

The operator at Grimsby Telephone exchange received an unexpected call from the premises of a firm of tobaccoists in the early hours of Sunday morning. Putting the instrument to his ear his surprise developed into wonderment, for all he could get in reply to the usual query, "What number please?" was the vigorous barking of a dog. Coming to the conclusion that there were burglars in the place the operator informed the police. In the meantime the owner of the dog, suddenly remembering that he had contrary to pratical left the animal, a fox terrier, in the office, had gone to the premises to release it. When he arrived he found a couple of police officers about to force an entrance and their astonishment was great when reaching the office they found that the terrier had climbed onto a desk five feet high and knocked the receiver off the telephone. Used to hearing his master's voice over the instrument, it had apparently barked into the mouth-piece to draw attention to its plight.

Hopelessly Mixed.

In the early part of the last century there lived in an old New England town a Mr. Church, who in the course of his earthly life was bereft of four wives, all of whom were buried in the same lot. In his old age it became necessary to remove the remains to a new cemetery. This he undertook himself, but in the process the bones became hopelessly mixed. His "New England conscience" would not allow him, under the painful circumstances, to use the original headstones, so he procured new ones, one of which bore the following inscription: "Here lies Hannah Church and probably a portion of Emily."

Another: "Sacred to the Memory of Emily Church, who seems to be mixed with Matilda."
Then follow the lines: "Stranger, pause and drop a tear: For Emily Church lies buried here Mixed in some preplexing manner With Mary, Matilda and probably Hannah."—Harper's Weekly.

All In the Family.

Nevada is what is called a sovereign State. It embraces a great deal of territory and a few people. Most of its valuable are owned by Californians. Its United States Senators have been held a good deal of the time by men who might properly be called residents of San Francisco.

In the circumstances when California shuns prize-fight with the knowledge that it will be held in Nevada it does not exactly close the doors of hope upon its inhabitants. Nearly all of the money spent at Reno will be found later on in San Francisco's pockets.—New York World.

Wanted All To Be Honest.

Mark Tolley, State treasurer and candidate for re-election, was a traveling salesman for 25 years and has a fund of good stories of the road.

He tells that one time he was in a town in Central Kansas where a protracted revival meeting was going on. One of the residents of town was named Toby. He was a tall, gaunt man, with long whiskers, and was very fond of whiskey, of which he frequently imbibed beyond his limit. This man was attending one of the meetings, and the revivalist was busy scoring every form of vice and calling down drastic condemnation upon them.

"Woe to the drunkard! Woe to the drunkard! Woe to the drunkard!" he shouted in doleful tones.

Old Toby got on his feet and tugged at his whiskers, and the fact that he stuttered only made his interruption more marked: "G-g-g-guess th-th-th at's m-e! I-I-I'm p-p-present!"

The preacher went on "Woe to the liars. Woe to the liars! Woe to the thieves! Woe to the thieves!" His voice was dolorous and sepulchral.

Again old Toby got to his feet. He motioned around the room, swinging and pointing with his arms and fingers.

"G-g-get up!" he commanded. "G-g-get up! He's calin' and s-s-some of you fellers! I've answered p-p-present. It's your turn now. S-s-stand up and be counted!"—Kansas City Star.

Must Be Cleared From The Track Anyhow.

Why is it that in every town there are some fellows who will work here to scotch the wheels of progress, while they would find the labor much less burdensome were they to join the bigger crowd which is behind the wagon pushing it forward? The obstructionists, kickers, and tears-down really work harder in their way than the builders-up whom they are constantly opposing. They have the short end of the lever and, consequently, cannot match strength with the force at the other end. The only thing they do is to delay progress—and to receive the well merited impatience of the men who are always doing things and consequently building up their towns—Charlotte Observer.

It is the disposition and the spirit of man to differ with his fellow man at many points as to methods and policies, but in this enlightened epoch of advancement; and improvement there is no place assigned to the obstructionist. He should be shoved aside—gently, if you will, forcibly if need be.

Husband (at the theatre, to his wife)—I hope you have noticed, darling, that between acts I and II four years are supposed to elapse, and the actress who takes the part of the countess wears the same dress. You could very well follow her example.—Tit-Bits.

Madge—Did you tell him you didn't believe him when he told you that you were the first he'd ever loved?

Marjorie—No; but I came right back at him with another whopper. Said he was the first man who had ever kissed me.—Judge.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dust. Womanly health when lost or impaired generally is regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been curing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questionings and offensively repugnant examinations.
